

MP Kanimozhi Somu urges to detect and treat rare diseases

Unveils guide report of Aswatha Chamber of Thulapara

Chennai, Aug. 29: Attention should be paid to detect and treat hereditary rare diseases before conception and get rid of them, Member of Parliament Dr. Kanimozhi NVN Somu said at the function organised by Aswatha Chamber of Thulapara at Chennai Press Forum.

In the presence of Aswatha founder Sreedhar Narayanan, Dr. Kanimozhi Somu released a guide project report prepared by the organization "Aswatha Chamber of Thulapara" regarding the information, diagnosis methods, solutions by government and international organizations on rare diseases across Tamil Nadu.

She said, "Rare diseases such as Haemophilia, Spina muscular atrophy, and Lysosomal disorders, which can be inherited, can affect children. For example, due to hemophilia, a blood clotting disorder, children lack strength in their joints. Therefore, when playing with other children, children with this disorder become bored and withdraw."

Similarly children with spinal muscular atrophy, due to atrophy of the spinal muscles, have difficulty bending their backs. Such diseases are caused due to deficiency of protein in genes. Treating such rare diseases can cost lakhs of rupees.

The cost of tablets run into thousands. That is why, in the previous session of the Parliament itself, I had urged the Union Government to remove the GST levy on drugs of rare diseases. Since the GST tax on such drugs is a few thousand, I emphasized this considering the plight of parents who have to pay for the treatment of such children.

Private organizations have established more than 10 registries for rare diseases across India. In this case, in India, in the year 2022, the government of Tamil Nadu led by Chief Minister Stalin has established a registration center for rare diseases and has made it possible for people below the poverty line to undergo diagnostic tests through the artist insurance scheme of the government of Tamil Nadu. So far 60 people have registered in Tamil Nadu. 50 lakhs has been arranged for the medical expenses of 4 of them. As such rare diseases are passed down from the ancestors, women should undergo such tests before conceiving. There needs to be awareness for that. It can prevent children from suffering from rare diseases mentioned above. And the treatment of children born with rare diseases cost lakhs, so the government alone cannot do it. For that, international companies should come forward to do it from the International Social Responsibility Fund (CSR Fund). Every institution should bear the expenses of one or two children with such a rare disease, said Kanimozhi Somu.

TN/achieves 8% growth post-COVID: Minister

Chennai, Aug 29: Tamil Nadu's Finance Minister Thiruganesh Thennarasu said the economic growth being witnessed in the State was equitable and spread out across the State with the growth being concentrated in one or two places.

Addressing media on the Gross State Domestic Product (GSDP) and inflation figures compiled by the Department of Economics and Statistics in consultation with the State Planning Commission across the State, he said every district had different industries contributing to the economy. He said this was unlike certain other States where only one or two regions contributed to the economy. Responding to a question on economic disparities between the districts in Tamil Nadu, he said the investments attracted by the State in the last couple of years was spread out across the State.

Thennarasu pointed out that the GSDP of Tamil Nadu grew by 8.19 per cent at constant prices in 2022-23 compared to the country's GDP growth of 7.24 per cent. He said the State's inflation index value was lower at 5.97 in 2022-23 compared to 8.82 for the country. The Hindu had reported these figures in detail on Sunday.

The Minister said while the primary (which includes agriculture) and secondary (which includes manufacturing) was contributing more to the high economic growth, the State government was also focusing on increasing the contribution of the services sector to the growth through measures like the setting up of logistics parks in the State.
